Handicap Arrangements

The races are being run under a handicap system.

The grid for the first race is set in order of fastest driver to slowest driver using the individual fastest times from each driver during the qualifying session.

The grid for the second race is set in order of fastest driver to slowest driver using the individual fastest times from each driver during the first race.

All drivers from the second fastest overall down to the slowest overall qualifying driver on the grid down will be given "Credit Laps" by the official Handicapper for the race which will then put them in front of the overall fastest car on the timing screens for the start of the race.

It is up to the fastest car to make up the time difference given by the "Credit Laps" to overtake the slowest cars during the race.

The credit laps and times will be applied in the timing system so that the handicapped calculated race will play out on the timing screens - this will not necessarily reflect who the leader is on the road at the point of the chequered flag.

The Chief Timekeeper will advise the officials if there is any doubt about who should be shown the chequered flag first.
